Singer/Songwriter Set Coming to You Live!

Friday, April 24, 2026

Rhett Akins has had an impressive career. He's not just been a successful solo artist, he's also written chart toppers for many artists. Rhett has had (so far) 36 No. 1 singles. The last time he was with us he had 27. His first No. 1, "That Ain't My Truck," which he co-wrote, has become his signature song. He has written songs for Luke Bryan, Jason Aldean, Dustin Lynch, Blake Shelton, John Pardi, Parker McCollum and Thomas Rhett, to name a few.

In 2010, Rhett was named the No. 4 Billboard Country Songwriter. The following year, BMI named him Songwriter of the Year. He won it again in 2014. His biggest accomplishment, though, may be winning the CMA Triple Play award. Eight times! In April 2018 Rhett was named Songwriter of the Year, and in September 2019 named the first Songwriter of the Decade by the Academy of Country Music. In November of 2021 Rhett was inducted into the Nashville Songwriters Hall of Fame. And he's not done yet...

Louisiana native Beau Bailey is making a name for himself as one of Nashville's fastest-growing hit songwriters. In just a few short years, he has penned songs for HARDY, Blake Shelton, Kane Brown, Cole Swindell, Parmalee, Hudson Westbrook, Graham Barham, Chase Matthew, Dylan Marlowe, and more. He crafts emotionally charged, resonant tracks praised for their "tenacity, creative instincts, and passion."

Bailey has two hit songs climbing the country radio charts: HARDY's "Favorite Country Song" and Blake Shelton's "Stay Country or Die Tryin'." Additional standout releases include Dierks Bentley's "Broken Branches," Hudson Westbrook's "Sober" and "Weatherman," and Graham Barham's "Oil Money."

Raised in Monroe, Louisiana, Beau grew up duck hunting flooded timber, fishing Mississippi River oxbow lakes, and playing baseball—experiences that shaped his honest, real-life songwriting voice. He began writing songs at 15, drawing from his roots to craft lyrics with emotional impact and commercial appeal.
